Displacement At the Grass Roots

One kind of automation, or perhaps only advanced mechanization is the grain combine that soon may appear in area wheat

With a combine, one operator and one truck driver, to haul away the grain, can do in hours what one required days twice as many people, even after the scythe had been supplanted by the harvester.

The same kind of advanced mechanization is showing up for the first time this summer in California tomato fields, reports The Wall Street Journal. But the impetus there is more complicated than it ever was in Ohio grain fields.

California growers have been given a sense of urgency by an AFL-CIO campaign to organize their field hands. Bargaining power would consist of the threat to withhold labor during the few days when crops must be harvested. A tomato "combine" using 12 workers to a machine can do the work of 60 field hands. A $15,000 machine harvesting 2,000 tons of tomatoes a year can pay for itself in wage savings in one yyear.

The machines, themselves, are satisfactory, as far as design is concerned. All that needs to be done to make this kind of crop handling feasible for universal use is development of strains of tomatoes more adaptable to the machine this work is welladvanced. Similar work is being done with machines to harvest other large-volume crops, such as almonds, walnuts and

About 1,200 field hands already have lost their jobs in California, and it is predicted that 100,000 may lose their jobs in the next five years as growers turn to machines to secure themselves against the threat of disastrous work stoppages.

This side of the story is rarely referred to when politicians and sociologists talk about manpower displacement. The incentive to mechanize and automate often is supplied by the unionists who should be thinking about the consequences. They give producers no choice but to minimize dependence on a labor supply that can be turned off by someone else's order.

Two For the Price of One?

In recent weeks we have been cheering the Republican majority in the Ohio General Assembly for its efforts to trim down the Democratic administration's budget requests to a still-generous size.

We agree with the GOP that, since most taxpayers are also voters, there is political savvy in a campaign to economize on govern-

But there is a side development in the current legislative session that is a bit hard to understand in light of the thrift policy, and it will not be surprising if the Democrats add it to the arsenal of charges thay will try to pin on the Republicans when it comes time to take the stump.

Where, they will ask, is the economy in abolishing one commission with a paid staff and creating two other commissions with paid staffs in its place?

The agency to be abolished, by the simple expediency of cutting off its operating money, is the Ohio Scholarship Funds.

The two to be created are the State Commission on Academic Facilities, to administer whatever federal aid comes to Ohio's colleges, and the Ohio Higher Education Assistance Commission, to administer a new legislature with bipartisan support met a series of difficulties which kept the program from achieving the success envisioned for it. It was thus concluded that the outright grant approach should be sidelined temporarily in favor of the guaranteed student loan idea.

But the sponsors of the original loan bill, including the late Rep. Joseph E. Lady, R-Hardin, thought it would be wise to assign its edministration to the already-existing scholarships funds trustees, so that if and when the state wanted to return to the grant program, both could be run as complemen-

Along the way, things got tangled up. Bankers said they should be represented on the 10an fund commission if they are expected to put up money for students. Some legislators had personal peeves against the scholarship funds.

Out of the tangle has emerged the abolition of a program that may yet prove desirable for Ohio and the creation of two new agencies dealing with the same general field - aid to hgher education.

It doesn't seem to make sense, philosophically or economically. There is not much time left, but perhaps the Republican leaders of the assembly can find a way to correct what will appear to a lot of taxpayers as an

'Fustest With the Mostest'

It looks as if the British intend to do wishes that just once there would be a their duty by Kuwait, their favorite oil well. By the end of last week they were on the scene with aircraft carriers, airplanes, heavy tanks, medium tanks, marines, specialists, commandos and trouble-shooters. It was vague what the Iraqi were prepared to put on the scene to balance Britain's task force.

But it was clear that if Iraq's announced intention to take possession of Britain's favcrite oil well was going to be carried out ic would have to be done against determined opposition.

This opposition, according to reports from Kuwait, itself, included tribesmen rolling in from the hills with rifles and pistols at the ready - rolling not on camels but in shiny, high-powered automobiles.. The natives in this instance are not looking to anyone for deliverance from subsistence living.

The British and United States oil companies that exploit Kuwait's apparently infinite reserves pay well for the privilege. There is so much money no on needs to be poor - $3 million a day.

If there is dissatisfaction, it is not because of poverty but maldistribution of wealth. Here is, perhaps, the object lesson of the year for the United States, which country whose people were so well off they would not be pushovers for every scheme to improve their lot in life.

Kuwait is almost too tiny to be called a country and so new it isn't sure yet what to call itself, after years of being a British protectorate. But judged by British success in "gittin' thar fustest with the mostest," it isn't likely to be called a victim of aggression either.

In 1958, U.S. troops, carriers and planes showed up in Lebanon with British approval. U.S. approval will be forthcoming for the British manifestation of responsibility in Kuwait. This sort of thing has been under a cloud, but it's still the only known way to discourage aggression i.e., beat the aggressor to the first punch.

American Medical Association was told by its president that too many doctors are charging too much and refusing house calls. He asks that association crack down by "disciplinary action."

Once Over

Our guess is that special medical facilities will be needed in all cases where one doctor accuses another of overcharging.

It unquestionably is harder to get a doctor to make house calls than it used to be, but in most cases there is something to be said for the doctor.

In these days when everybody rushes to him for minor ailments, American physician is overworked to a point where he is closer to breakdown than patient. frony of the day is to hear a doctor, pale and exhausted, telling a patient "You MUST Experiments conducted jointly by Harvard and Dublin colleges indicate men migrating to Boston from Ireland are easy victims of high blood pressure and heart disease, while those who stay in Ireland get along in fine health. Two hundred men have been used in experiment. Well, it seems obvious that an Irishman who stays home escapes the terrific pace of Boston politics, traffic, the clatter of steamshovels and the strains of finding selves in a political novel.

'Tis another puzzlement, inside a puzzlement. The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) is permitting Castro to operate his government

Not only do Castro's commercial planes fly from New York and Miami to Mexico, Haiti, the Azores and Madrid - where our own lines go - but Castro has graciously provided a new service which can be booked in the

This facility has been developed by Castro since the anti-fascist invasion of Cuba by those 1,200 prisoners we have been attempting to ransom. Castro's Cubana Airlines now will fly from New York to Prague - the brainwashing, sabotage training, gun-making center of the Sino-Soviet bloc.

Czech guns mowed down our allies on the Cuban beaches. But you can walk right into a Cubana office in several U.S. cities and arrange to fly right into the capitol of Moscow's munition mak-

ALL THIS I discovered while checking on foreign competitionfrom friend and foe alike-which could affect American jobs and gold outflow.

So much for our foes. Now as to our friends. There are, for example, the Dutch who own KLM (Royal Dutch Airlines). That's a right nice piece of property.

Under a treaty with our friends, the KLM is permitted to fly routes servicing the Netherlands territories and the U.S. Under this agreement the lines can add some runs and pick up passengers at certain world airports.

Thus it competes with such lines as Pan American World Airways. In this competition KLM does handsomely. In 1960 it did a $53.39 million business servicing the U.S. trade. This compared with $2,23 million taken in by Pan American and other U.S. air lines serving Netherlands territories. I presume I'm being a bit chauvinistic. But that's almost 25-1 odds against us.

HOWEVER there is more than chauvinism here. This translates itself into more than bread and drags of our cities, the Elm Streets of our suburbs, the buying of a car, a home, a refrigerator, a ticket to the theate.

I asked Pan American - which has just accused KLM of pushing for our business far beyond KLM's treaty rights - for a scale of wages paid by American lines.

I wanted to compare them with wages paid by the Dutch and the Scandinavian lines. For, it is the American pay standards the world's highest - which are being threatened by loss in trade, be it in the pants business or

Look at these average yearly salaries. They show, for example, that U.S. lines pay almost as much to a stewardess as the competing European lines pay to a

800 compared with his continental counterpart's $8,800. THE AMERICAN flight engineer

gets $16,200 against the other fellow's $7,800 Pan-Am's stewardesses receive

$6,400 compared with foreign stewardesses' $2,900. U.S. airport mechanics get $6,-500; those abroad earn $2,500.

Pan-Am clerical workers earn $4,800 compared with the European $2,100.

How can Pan-Am or any other American line maintain these wages and keep raising living standards as new union contracts come up, if the European competition cuts into this airborne

In 1960, for example, the Dutch airline carried almost 117,000 passengers out of New York -thousands of whom were flown between New York and the Caribbean, and other thousands between Miami and the Caribbean. But only 31,000 of the whole total were U.S.-Netherlands traffic.

Pan-Am was cut into because it observed the international treaties to the letter. Pan-Am gets hurt because it gets no protection from the CAB, though Pan-Am is the company which operates the Cape Canaveral space test and missile center and the downrange tracking stations at a minimum profit.

No insult meant to our friends abroad but our own people ought, at least to get an even break.

As for permitting Castro's competition - 'tis indeed a puzzle-

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My sisterin-law gets on my nerves with her constant bragging. Last night did it. We had several couples to our home and Della started to brag about her dog. She said he sings. I took her aside and told her she'd better not make such statements because people would think she had lost a bolt. She became very annoyed and said, "I don't claim Spotty will sing just anything. He has favorites. He just loves to sing along with Mitch."

Now I've heard lots of stories about smart dogs, Ann, but I've never heard of a dog that sings. Will you please tell me if this is possible? I'm beginning to think maybe I'm the one who is nuts.

Dear Toodie: Apparently Mitch Miller's magical spell has slopped over into the animal kingdom. It's very possible that Spotty IS singing along with Mitch. Don't knock it if you haven't heard it.

Tenant Caretaker

Dear Ann: My husband and I live in a four-family flat. We pay $150 a month rent. The other two apartments are occupied by people we rarely see. The landlord and his wife live in the fourth flat.

The landlord and his wife leave

If my husband and I didn't cut the grass and water the lawn nobody would. The year before last we spent a lot of time (and some money) on the lawn and it looked lovely. Last summer we decided to do nothing and see what happened. Well, the grass grew so tall we were ashamed to have

This summer we are faced with the same problem. Please don't suggest that we move. We love our apartment and the location is ideal. What's the solution?

Dear J. D.: Usually it's the responsibility of the landlord to keep the grounds up. Speak to him about hiring a yardman or offer to do it in exchange for a reduction in the rent.

If he is not amenable, continue to keep the lawn up and stop aggravating yourself. Consider it part of the price you must pay to live in that lovely well-located apartment.

the world even as the story of his spectacular escape on a submarine was being reported. He came back at the head of a victorious army in 1945 as his troops, aided by America's naval and air forces in the Far East, made the return possible. GEN. MacARTHUR is 81 years old and doubts that he will ever

Eichmann Problem

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector Looming up like an unforeseen obstacle in a long classic race is the problem that stands at the

Now in its 12th week, the trial by any man's standards has been a calm and masterly exercise in the law.

But from the moment of Adolf Eichmann's kidnaping in Argentine, there has poured out a vast torrent of speculation and comment on the case, at least six books, countless articles and broadcasts, political speeches and formal statements virtually all taking it for granted that the man was guilty.

It is known that the Israeli Ministry of Justice was perturbed by this. Their final decision was that nothing could be done about it.

THE MINISTRY decided it could rely on the high professionalism of the judges working without an impressionable and non-professional jury, not to be influenced by the torrent.

It seems certain then that Eichmann will be convicted. The Israeli law is that for his crime the only punishment is death by hanging. This punishment can, of course, be mitigated or wholly remitted by the government in the person of the president of the

There is, therefore, a political decision to be made after the law has done its work, and the fact remains that many well-disposed people all over the world would be shocked by the execution of Eichmann.

In Isral the idea is that it does not matter what happens to him as long as his body does not rest in Israeli soil. There is now no hangman and no gallows in Israel. Nor can his body be cremated here since that is against the Jewish law. His death would be a knotty administrative and political problem.

Most Israelis, in fact, do not particularly desire his death. It would serve no purpose. The formal trial and the condemnation would serve their emotional and spiritual purposes. He could, of course, be given a life sentence. That would involve the prolongation of the special end of the Eichmann trial. It is the problem of what to do with system set up to keep him living during the trial. There would have to be a separate prison and special guards. Eichmann as a prisoner would not last alive 10 minutes in the vard of a common Israeli prison.

> The other alternative is to let him go to be satisfied with the intellectual act of condemnation. Israel could extradite him - to Poland, for example, where he pears, have no intention of asking for his extradition. He could be sent back to his family in the Argentine but the Argentine government have an easy way out of an embarrassing situation: Eichmann was technically an illegal immigrant into that country in the first place.

There is, in fact, nowhere in the world for him to go and live out

Amid all these difficulties it is becoming easy to guess which is the least of the evils that still attend this man. But it is not an easy decision. The final solution of the Eichman problem has still to be settled.

When bladder emptying becomes impaired by prostatic enlargement, there is no alternative to surgery. Carried out by a skilled surgeon under proper auspices, operative risks and discomforts have been greatly reduced despite the advanced age of most patients.

Q-Some time ago you wrote about a summer camp for children with epilepsy. Is this camp still running and how do I find out about it?

A-The annual summer camp opened July 1 at the National Children's Rehabilitation Center near Leesburg, Va. For detailed information write the director, Dr. Charles Kram, at the center. Children between the ages of 7 and 15 are eligible for admission without regard to religion, race, color or creed.

Q-Is it true that most childhood deaths between the ages of 1 and 4 are the results of accidents?

A-Not exactly. But the largest single cause for death at these tender ages is the accident. And a splendid community effort to prevent these fatal accidents _

Vacationers visiting the Truman Library at Independence, Mo., this summer will see a new interpretation of the Old West in Thomas Hart Benton's mural, "Independence and the Opening of the West." The 19 x 32-foot work depicts symbolically the opening of the western part of the United States when Independence was known as the "Gateway to the West." Missouri-born Benton, 72, because of his sight, says that the mural will be his last major work.

Thomas Hart Benton, shown at drawing board with master Benton sketched wagon at Independence before it left on sketch, began work on the library mural in December, 1959. Oregon centennial trek, and visited many locales for detail.

Detail, above, is from three-dimensional clay model Benton Fellow with the brush is former President Truman, who laid made to determine the perspective, before tackling mural, on a couple strokes when actual painting of mural began.

Work, Jobless Both On Increase In June

WASHINGTON (AP) - More Americans held down jobs last month than ever before. And yet, unemployment increased.

With school closing, teen-agers began hunting either permanent work or summer jobs. The Labor Department counts them in the labor force, which is the number of people working plus those looking for jobs.

So, while employment increased 1.9 million from mid-May to an all-time high of 68,706,000 in mid-June, unemployment rose 800,000 to 5.6 million.

The previous employment high was 68,689,000 last July.

In announcing the figures on Wednesday, the Labor Department once again reported a seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment of 6.8 per cent. This figure virtually has remained constant for seven months.
